NEW PLAN FOR SHIPPING CAR IS ANNOUNCED

An innovation in export shipment of automobiles from the mid-West to Europe was introduced in May when a steamship load of Studebaker and Erskine cars cleared from Detroit for Spain. Announcement of this interesting departure in export shipment practice was made by Lester Thomas, local dealer.

By this plan, it was pointed out, the expense and complications of the conventional railroad shipment of automobiles to the seaboard, unloading and reloading at salt water, will be substantially reduced.

The S. S. Tractor of Hamburg arrived at Detroit on May 5. It immediately loaded with boxed and unboxed Studebaker and Erskine cars and the liner began its voyage from the Great Lakes to Europe.

On its passage to the ocean the S. S. Tractor went through Lake Erie, the Welland Canal and Lake Ontario. It then followed the St. Lawrence river past Montreal and Quebec, the river spreads out into the sea, and from then on the steamer traversed salt water.

The ship first proceeded to Barcelona, Spain, the Mediterranean to discharge part of its cargo, and unload the remainder at Bilbao on the Bay of Biscay. From these two ports the cars, of various Studebaker and Erskine models, will be distributed to Madrid, Oviedo, Alicante, Villagarcia, and Zaragoza.

Studebaker is the largest individual user of the method of shipping unboxed cars—the plan which will be used for the greater part of the S. S. Tractor's cargo. Late in December, 1927, a shipment of 500 unboxed Studebaker-Erskine cars was made from New York direct to Germany on the S. S. Eberstein—the first of its kind ever made.

In the unboxed method of ship-

Pittsburg Has Traffic Reserve

Organization of Public School Traffic Reserve squads in Pittsburg for the protection of children on their way to and from classes was announced today by the Public Safety department of the California State Automobile Association. City Manager Roy A. Watkins and Chief of Police Scudero cooperated in formation of the school boy patrols and Traffic Officer Hornsby trained the boys in proper methods of signaling traffic. A plan of routing children to and from school so as to bring them to the crossing of crowded thoroughfares where junior traffic officers are on duty is now being worked out.

Touring Season In Full Swing

The touring season is rapidly getting under way, according to reports of the Touring Bureau of the California State Automobile Association which served 40,000 motorists with maps and information over the counters of offices in thirty-one cities last month. Telephone calls for information during the month ran much higher. Transcontinental routings were furnished 1,310 members during the month and trips out of California were outlined for 3,661 motorists during the month.

Traveling automobiles, the cars, standing on their own tires, are arranged in long lines on the decks. This arrangement resulted in the S. S. Eberstein's cargo reaching Germany in perfect condition, not even the lacquer finishes bearing the slightest scratch.

It is estimated that the employment of this method of shipping to Spain will effect a saving of between $20 and $40 per car to Studebaker dealers.

Campaign Opens On Hit-Runners

District attorneys throughout the state have promised their cooperation in vigorous prosecution of "hit and run" drivers in the campaign being waged by the State Division of Motor Vehicle force and police departments against those who flee automobile accidents. A bulletin from the Legal department of the California State Automobile Association states:

"The usual excuse of the 'hit and run' driver is that he didn't know he had an accident. Witnesses can help to get convictions if they will be alert to note evidence which will show that a driver could hardly have helped knowing he had hit a person or another machine. For instance, it should be noted whether there was any glass broken in the accident. The sound of glass breaking and falling to the street could be easily heard by a driver, and it would be hard to explain to a jury why such a sound was not heard. Likewise, if a driver speeds up immediately after an accident and turns several corners as if to throw pursuers off the track, such a circumstance would be very damaging to a defendant's case."

Lower Prices Stimulate New Buying Record

Price reductions in motor cars as a rule stimulate buying for at least a short period of time, but when this buying continues the public evidently believes it is getting the highest value for its dollars, declares Hourtane and McQuone, local dealers for the Willys-Knight and Whippet motor-cars.

They were speaking particularly of the price reduction made in the Whippet a few months ago, and stated that there was apparently no diminution in the volume of orders that have since been pouring into the factory from every section of the country. They said further:

While there is a strong demand for all body types of the Whippet the coach appears to be the most popular. Perhaps it is because it is the lowest priced in the enclosed car group and offers such comfort. It accommodates five full sized persons without crowding.

The front of the 1928 Whippet coach presents a new appearance owing to the adoption of the cadet or town car type of floor which replaces the continuation of the roof line. The new visor gives the car a smart, military effect and also increases the range of vision, especially in the mountains.

The coach is equipped with full crown fenders which add to its long low lines. It has contrasting window reveals and is fitted with remote door controls. These are new features not seen in the 1927 Whippet. The rich color combination also presents a decided change from the original. It is a beautiful blend of gray with striping. The upholstery is of a fine grade corduroy that colors.

TRANSPORT IS ADVANTAGE TO COUNTY AREA

Motor transportation has given to an appreciable portion of the country's population facilities which have enabled them to contribute in a greater measure than heretofore to production, to share in earnings, to benefit by increased production and earnings, and to enjoy better standards of living.

Of approximately 125,000 centers of population of considerable size in the United States, the California State Automobile association reports that only about 80,000 have freight stations on railways, leaving about 45,000 communities without such service. Not only have good roads and motor transportation been a boon to these communities off the railroad lines but motor transportation has brought about the opening of new farming areas.

Farms which were near cities, but without adequate transportation service, now are able to produce and market expensively vegetables, fruits, and poultry and dairy products. Shipments of farm products also are carried by truck to assembling points from which carload lots are shipped by rail in many parts of the country.

Solid-Tired Trucks Banned In Germany

Officials of Berlin, Germany, plan to place a ban on solid tires used by motor trucks, according to information received by the National Automobile club. It is expected to maintain complete prohibition of such tires after July 1, 1929. This move is made in an effort to conserve highways, it is explained.

Many a man's unpopularity is due to his attempt to wear a misfit manner of greatness.

5000 miles in less than 4000 consecutive minutes - a record for stock cars priced below $1400.

The Erskine

795 to 965

F. O. B. FACTORY

43-horsepower - 62 miles per hour

Thrilling six-cylinder performance. A thousand miles in less than a thousand consecutive minutes - a record for stock cars priced below $1000.

STUDEBAKER has swept the boards! Every official speed and stamina record for fully equipped stock cars is held by Studebaker. Every Studebaker is a champion! Never before has one manufacturer held all these records! These remarkable records (listed at the left) offer unmistakable proof of speed, of stamina, of durability—certified officially by the American Automobile Association. To you they are conclusive assurance of Studebaker's fitness to meet every demand of everyday motoring.

Championship beyond dispute

Studebaker cars have proved beyond question their ability to travel great distances at sustained high speeds. No car ever came within 10,000 miles of The Commander's great record of 25,000 miles in less than 25,000 minutes! No fully equipped closed car ever equaled The President Straight Eight's official records. No cars of their price classes ever traveled so far so fast as did The Dictator and The Erskine Six. When such performance can be bought at Studebaker's remarkable One-Price prices, why be content with less than a champion?

Studebaker's sensational proofs of speed and endurance come from engineering genius, quality materials, precision manufacture and rigid inspections. Because of these, any Studebaker may safely be driven 40 miles an hour the day you buy it. Motor oil need be changed but once in 2500 miles. The President, Commander and Dictator require chassis lubrication only after each 2500 miles.

Today in Studebaker and in Studebaker alone, you can buy the utmost in every phase of motoring—and behind it a name that for 76 years has meant dependable transportation. Come in, and drive a champion!

Danger Of School Vacation Period For Children Told

With vacation not very far in the future and the resultant increase in the number of children playing in the streets, greater care will be devoted on the motor vehicle driver to prevent serious accidents, says a "safety first" bulletin newly issued to its members by the National Automobile club.

The club stresses the point that the great majority of accidents in city streets last year involving pedestrians had for victims children under 16 years of age, according to statistical information supplied to the club. This is declared to have been due to the fact that children play in the streets and are sometimes insensible to their danger.

In view of this fact, the club bulletin says, it is plain duty of every motor vehicle driver to do the thinking for the children and to be so careful that the number of accidents may be reduced to a minimum. Every precaution should be taken by the driver, the club declares.

During the school months children as a rule are not so much on the streets as during the vacation period. Much of their play occurs on the school grounds and they are under more rigid supervision with the result that most accidents involving children occur during the period when they have the greatest liberty.

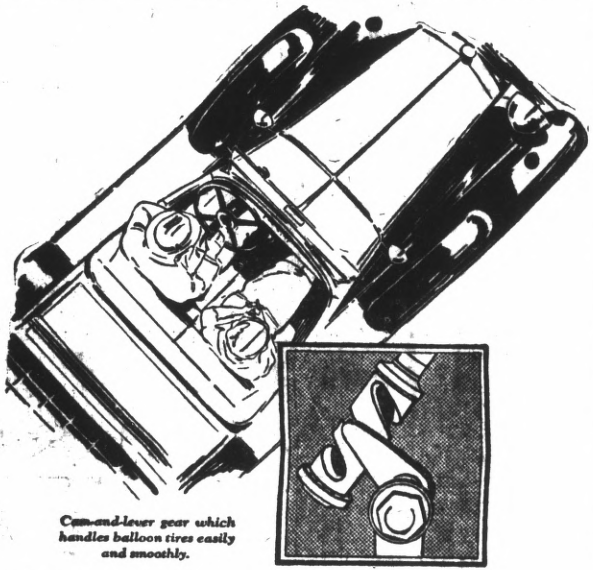

"Children, due to their youth, are frequently insensible to the dangers of playing on congested traffic streets," says Arnold Ho-kinson, general manager of the club, "and many more are thought less. This is especially true in those sections of the city where the only available playground for the children is the street."

"Children in the course of their play most of the time are oblivious to the oncoming motor vehicle. They suddenly rush from behind one vehicle directly into the path of another coming from the opposite direction. The result, if the driver is not a miracle man, is an accident and another regrettable fatality added to the long list. Motor vehicle drivers should make it their business to be doubly careful driving during the vacation period and to be vigilant at all times when driving in the sections of the city where children are given to playing in the streets due to the fact that playgrounds are not available."

"Parents of children should make it their business constantly to warn children of their dangers in playing in the street and to point out to them how accidents can be avoided. Safety instruction given by parents and teachers, once thoroughly learned, is not forgotten and thus is one of the greatest aids in the prevention of child traffic fatalities that may be employed."

An average of 95 per cent of the cars stolen annually in Philadelphia, Pa., are recovered, according to information received by the National Automobile club.

HUPMOBILE IS LAUDED BY VETERAN

Nineteen years ago, at this time Walter C. Zinn, now a San Francisco business man, was driving a new Hupmobile. And, believe it or not, all the boys (also the girls) in his home town, which then happened to be Minneapolis, were declaring that his new car was the smartest thing on wheels. And no doubt it was, declared officials of the La Franz Motor company.

Zinn now is the owner of a new Hupmobile Six. Zinn, speaking of his earlier Hupmobile, said:

"I remember when I first purchased the old car back in 1909. I believe it cost me just $750. I bought it in Minneapolis, and at the time I purchased it I was not so certain as to just how far it would be possible to travel in it without having to take a chance on walking back."

This, you understand, was the case with all automobiles in those days, and my reason for purchasing a Hupmobile was because I thought I had better chance of getting back without walking than I had with some other make.

I made a trip one summer with a friend of mine, and to keep from getting laughed at, we covered the hood of the car with a sign which read "From Minneapolis to Nowhere." This was done so that we could stop anywhere it might strike our fancy or the car's fancy, without letting everyone know that our car "did not choose to run."

However, the car proved to be a mighty fine automobile, and it gave me years of faithful service before I sold it. It was still running strong and I wouldn't be surprised if it is running yet, as I have seen several of the same model running in the last few years.

ANCIENT CARS ARE DECLARED SAFETY MENACE

Ancient automobiles that have become noisy through wear and neglect are declared to be one of the great menaces of the highway in a "safety first" bulletin issued by the National Automobile Club to its more than 50,000 members in California. The bulletin stresses the fact that often these ancient cars are so noisy that the driver fails to hear the warning signal of another car and the result is a serious accident.

"Noisy motors that rattle and clank down the highway," says the bulletin, "are a direct menace and have been shown by reliable statistics to be the cause of many serious accidents in which persons were either killed or seriously injured. Because of the noises of their machines, the drivers were not able to hear the signals of other cars nor the warning whistle of an oncoming train at a crossing and the result has been another accident added to the already long list."

"In recent years there have been many efforts to have taken off the roads such ancient motor vehicles as are known to be in such dilapidated condition as to be a direct menace. In some states laws have been enacted barring them from the highways and the state police have been given authority to impound such cars. In these states, accidents traceable to this cause have been virtually eliminated."

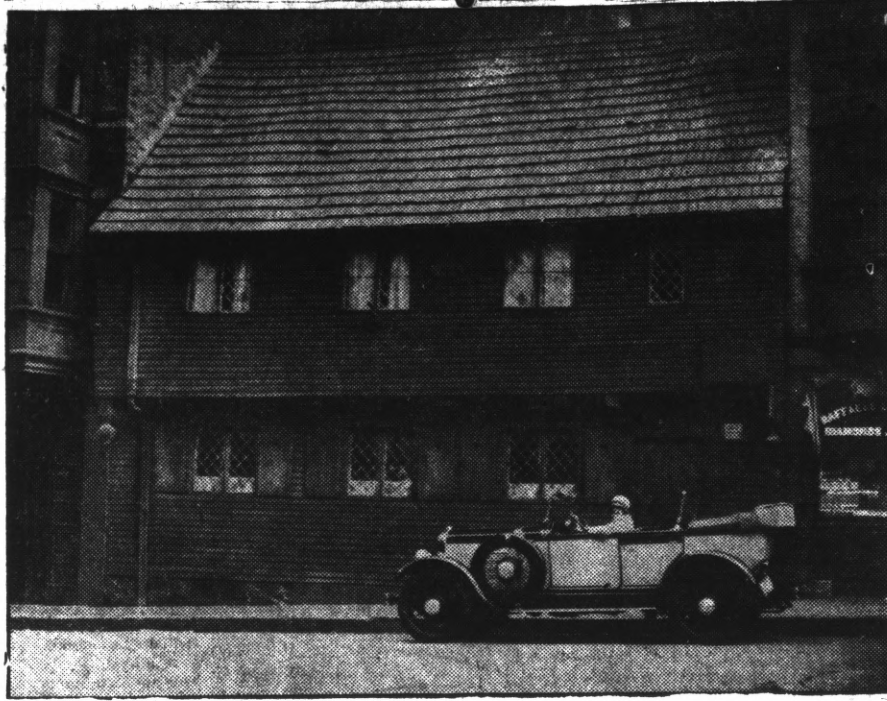

"Allowing a car to become so much in disrepair as to be a menace is regarded as direct evidence of contributory negligence in accident cases by some state courts and they have held that the owner could not recover in a suit for damages. Thus the owner of such a car was seriously punished for his neglect."

"It is of record in an eastern state that the blast of a horn from a car coming in the rear was not heard by the owner of a noisy car and the result was a serious collision. This could have been avoided had the owner of the latter taken the necessary precautions to have his car overhauled and the various engine and body noises eliminated."

The bulletin urges in conclusion that all members of the club make it a point to prevent their cars from becoming noisy and to see that they are overhauled by expert mechanics at regular periods.

Frequent and periodic washing of the car not only preserves the surface, but makes inspection of the chassis easier, according to the service department of the National Automobile club.

New Significance Placed On Used Chevrolets, Report

A new slant on the used car industry was brought out last week by R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, of the Chevrolet Motor company, according to the Golden Rule Chevrolet company, local dealers.

Proof that the used car has reached a position where it commands attention is given by Grant when he points out that during the first quarter of 1928 the Chevrolet Motor company produced and sold 250,000 new cars and at the same time delivered more than 200,000 used automobiles. This, Grant stated, was made possible through a changing attitude towards the used car on the part of both the motor car dealer and the public.

"Where the automobile dealer formerly paid little attention to the used car," Grant declared, "the proportion of used car to new car sales has mounted so high that now used cars are an important part of his business. Today, practically all of the direct dealers in the Chevrolet organization have Duco-ing equipment with which they refinish used cars in a manner similar to the factory. Cars are gone over from headlight to tail lamp by skilled mechanics trained in factory methods. The reconditioned cars bear an 'O. K. Tag' showing that every vital part has been checked. They are then displayed attractively and lenient time payments are made available to the purchaser."

"The public owes directly to the used car the wide range of prices at which transportation may be purchased, and the wide variety of models from which selection may be made."

"Every good automobile today is built with many years service in it. The original purchaser usually turns it in on a new model after he has driven it a few years. There remains in the car many miles of dependable service which is available to the man who needs transportation on the basis of a low first cost."

"Eliminate the used car from the market, and a good share of those fifteen million people would be denied the privilege of owning a car. And most of the remaining ten million motorists would be driving cars that do not measure up to their ideas of style simply because they would not be able to get a trade-in allowance, and would refuse to scrap their cars with unused value remaining in them."

"The result would have been a great many less new car sales within the past twenty years, and WITH AN OK THAT COUNTS"

Congress To Act On Important Measures Soon

Congress is expected to take action on important legislative matters affecting the motorist before the end of the present session. The status of this legislation according to the California State Automobile Association, follows:

Repeal of the remaining three per cent war excise tax on new car purchases, passed by the House, recommended by the Senate Finance committee and now before the Senate for final action. Administration attitude concedes the view point of organized motorists that motorists should be relieved from this tax burden.

Senate and House committees have agreed on terms of Colton bill providing $3,500,000 a year for improvement of main routes in western public land areas. Bill before House for final action.

Federal aid appropriation measure for fiscal year 1929 now in conference committee of both houses.

Federal aid authorization of $75,000,000 a year for 1930 and 1931 and $7,500,000 a year for roads in National forests passed by Senate and been favorably reported by House committee on roads.

"Highway freight trains," consisting of tractors and trailers, and carrying merchandises, fruit, and building materials, are being tried out in South Africa, according to the National Automobile club.

Cars that are better serviced, better finished and represent better values.

"There is every indication that our used car turnover this year will establish a new record even though both our new and used car sales are bigger than ever before during this season of the year."

No Change In Yosemite Rules

There has been no change in the regulations regarding commercial cars entering Yosemite National Park, the Touring Bureau of the California State Automobile Association announced today. And cars for hire carrying commercial licenses will not be admitted to the park. This information was secured from E. P. Leavitt, acting superintendent of Yosemite, following that the government ban on commercial cars had been lifted.

A commercial car driven by the owner will be admitted to the park if the owner satisfies the checking rangers that the car is being used for a pleasure trip only. Leavitt advised. Motor buses on educational tours or commercial tours where a special permit has been secured to visit several national parks on one tour are admitted on payment of certain fees.

Gas And Oil Often Wasted By Autoists

One's driving methods are more accurately reflected in car operation costs than is generally recognized by motorists, according to Louis Shaw, manager of the National Automobile club service department. The driver who builds up a lot of speed which he knows is going to be entirely wasted—rushing toward a red light, for instance—is a first-class waster of gasoline and oil, which, of course, runs high even without recognition of the cost of the brakes and tires consumed.

In Tokyo, Japan, the operating tax on the cheapest car is approximately $550 a year, while gasoline costs about 40 cents a gallon, according to the National Automobile club.

ACCIDENTS TAKE HUGE U. S. TOLL

Traffic accidents that last year cost the lives of approximately 26,000 persons in the United States and cost more than $700,000,000 in money were made the basis of an urgent "safety first" plea by the National Automobile club to its more than 51,000 members in California.

In a statement to the members it is pointed out by Arnold Hodgkinson, general manager of the club that there is something radically wrong when so great a loss of valuable human life can occur through the medium of a single mechanism. He believes that it is the duty of every motorist to take immediate and earnest stock of the situation and to make every effort he possibly can to reduce this appalling number of fatalities.

"There is something radically wrong," said Hodgkinson, "in every traffic accident whether it involves the loss of human life or only of money. There is something wrong with the driver, the pedestrian, the automobile, the control system, the construction of the highway or street, the traffic ordinances, the police department or with the community as a whole."

A recent study of traffic accidents in many of the large cities of the country has revealed that by far the greater number of street accidents involved a pedestrian. This is due not only to the carelessness of the automobile driver but also to the carelessness of the pedestrian. Both in many cases deliberately violated the traffic ordinances governing the use of the street crossings at intersections.

"In the case case, that of the drivers, it was found that they deliberately failed to wait for the second bell and the showing of the green 'go' light. In their haste to be on their way they did not give the pedestrian traffic full chance to clear the pedestrian lanes."

"This tendency on the part of many drivers, is one that should be curbed at all costs by the traffic police departments of the various cities in which pedestrian control ordinance exist. Severe penalties, rigidly enforced by the traffic courts, will do much to bring this about."

"Too many pedestrians still

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

THE BACK SEAT DRIVER

Back seat driving—the giving of directions to the driver of a motor car by others in the car, is a well known automobile joke. But it is more than this. It is a real evil which results in more accidents than can ever be traced, especially when the car is in heavy traffic.

On trolley cars, in elevators and on public buses there is almost always a sign which reads: "Do not talk to the operator." This sign is placed by the company in an effort to safeguard the public by aiding the driver in his duty of concentrating on his job. It assumes, and rightly, that conversation is a bar to concentration.

There is no reason why the same rule does not hold good in the driving of pleasure cars. Aside from the annoyance of having a steady flow of conversation directed to one, and often not even understood, there is the danger of being influenced by specifically wrong suggestions, even directions and commands, which it may not be wise or even possible to follow.

No one person in the car has the same angle of vision as the driver. The distances which he judges with his eye often seem quite close to those in other seats in the same vehicle. Even so, the interferences should pass without comment, for that one outcry of confidence, may be the cause of making the driver swerve ever so slightly to the right or left, thus spoiling his own judgment and causing an accident.

Driving in traffic is a job which demands attention and confidence, and anything which tends to break this attention or destroy a driver's confidence in himself is unsafe for all concerned. The person who interrupts this continuity of coordinated action is really a menace to himself and others.

CAMPERS ARE ADVISED TO TAKE AID KIT

An important item of camping equipment that many campers overlook is a first aid kit, according to Harry T. Healy, assistant general manager of the National Automobile club, who points out that a first-aid kit is far more important than many another thing the camper usually takes with him, with the exception of food and clothing.

So important is the first-aid kit, Healy declares, that in some sections of the country there are laws which require every automobile to carry such equipment. There are many situations where the possession of a kit not only relieves acute suffering, but also may be the means of saving a life.

"Your family physician," says Healy, "will tell you just what to take along on the protracted camping trip into the mountains, also will be ready to outline your thought that traffic ordinances and traffic control systems were inaugurated for the motorists alone. Hence 'jaw-walking' with all its dangers is still far too prevalent on the streets of all the American cities."

needs in this direction and give such instruction in the method of employing each article that you cannot go wrong.

"Also in recent years a regular first-aid kit has been prepared and put on the market and these may be purchased at many department stores and at the automobile supply houses at reasonable cost. These are specially prepared for the vacationist and camper and they should not be left behind when the annual summer hegira begins.

"For instance, here are some of the necessary items one will find in these prepared kits: rolls of gauze, scissors, clinical thermometer in case of fever, adhesive tape of different sizes, permanganate of potash crystals, for snakebite, headache tablets, laxative tablets, cold tablets, iodine, aromatic spirit of ammonia, ungulate for sunburns and other burns and analgesic for sprains.

"From this list it will be seen that nearly every contingency, except the very gravest ones, that might arise on a camping trip has been provided for and all of the items are essential and should on no account be overlooked when the camping equipment is gathered together for the season.

"A first-aid kit is especially valuable when children are included in the party. Hurts, often trifling in themselves, may become very serious affairs if they are neglected in the initial stages. Hence the contents of a first-aid kit are invaluable in cases of this nature."

Highway Between Phoenix And Globe Is Popular Route

The route over the Superior highway from Phoenix to Globe, Arizona, 97 miles, is now a very popular one, according to the touring department of the National Automobile club.

Leaving Phoenix, pavement is traversed via Van Buren street to Tempe and Mesa. A short stop at Mesa to view the new Mormon temple is an interesting one. The highway passes through a large acreage which has been set aside by the government for the preservation of the Giant Saguaro—the most individual of all Arizona growths. It grows in groups, clusters or rows or stands in solitary majesty, candle shape, with arms of varying shapes and lengths. The stickers on the Saguaro limbs are used as pincushion needles.

Many other desert growths are to be seen—the barrel cactus from which cactus candy is made; the yucca whose roots furnish the brown strands seen in Apache baskets; and the ocotillo with blooming of poinsettia red whose bark provides the Indian with a snakeproof wall for his house. Pavement is traversed to Desert Wells and at this point an excellent gravel road begins.

Soon Superstition Mountain, which figures in so many Apache legends, comes into view. It is still feared by all Arizona Indians. A vivid white line near the top of this legendary mountain is claimed by the Indians to be a high water mark. From this elevation in early days the barbarous Apaches observed the tactics of their enemies below and swooped down on them at the logical time.

Excellent gravelled highway is followed through Devil's Canyon, with its unusual rock formations resembling castles, terraces and towers. The same type of road continues to Miami, with the exception of five miles of macadam at Superior Junction, with pavement into Globe. At Miami, the Inspirational Miami mine is well worth a visit and among the curiosities to be seen are the immense dumps of tailings from the mine, covering many acres. Forty-one per cent of the copper produced in the United States is from the mines at Miami and Globe. One mile from Globe is to be seen a completely excavated house of the prehistoric period and a fine collection of ancient relics. This work is being carried on by the Smithsonian Institute. Many motorists are now visiting the site of the Coolidge dam, formerly known as San Carlos dam, 39 miles distant from Globe and reached via fair to poor dirt roads. Construction is now well under way on this dam.

SEAGOING CAR HELD CREDIT TO U. S. NAVY

Yo-ho-ho, and a seagoing Buick! Just that, folks. There is to catch to this little tale.

It's plenty seagoing this tried and true car from Flint, and its official master and occupant when ports are reached is none other than Admiral Henry A. Wiley, commander-in-chief of the United States fleets of the Pacific and Atlantic. It is his car, given to him by Uncle Sam for transportation in transaction of affairs of state, according to C. C. Kratzer, local dealer.

The first ashore when anchor dropped and the last aboard as the chain is hoisted, is this admiral's Buick sedan. It made auspicious entry into San Francisco recently when the admiral's flagship, the famed U. S. S. Texas, headed the mighty armada of the Pacific and Atlantic through the Golden Gate to anchor in Man O'War Room.

No sooner had the giant Texas stilled its engines than a lighter hove alongside, deck winches whirled and the admiral's motor car slid over the warship's side and onto the deck of the barge. Within minutes it was speeding up Market street on official call to the city hall and later in the day, piloted by Frank S. Harvel, machinist mate, first class, who has been admiral Wiley's official chauffeur for many months past, it drew up to the front entrance of the Howard Automobile company to tender respects to R. F. Thompson, general manager of the big Pacific Coast Buick distributing organization.

Throughout the San Francisco visit of the combined fleets the admiral's trim Buick attracted attention on all sides. Every day, with its gold-braided passengers, it was whizzed into port of and around the city's business district. Its license plates, "U. S. N. 3369" are issued by the government's Bureau of Navigation and are recognized in every country on the face of the globe.

"I have driven admiral's cars in twenty-six different countries and believe me, I know the grind they have stood in this kind of service," machinist Harvel explained. "I take my hat off to this Buick. In its nearly two years of constant service its record is one hundred per cent. It is a credit to the navy."

NEW CLUB FOR PARK HIGHWAY IS ORGANIZED

Formation of the Yellowstone cut-off highway association for the development of a direct all-year route from Northern California across eastern Oregon and Idaho to Yellowstone National park, was announced today by the highways bureau of the California Automobile association. Yellowstone cut-off runs from Redding to the Old Oregon trail and thence across Idaho to Boise and the Yellowstone region. Improvement of the roads which now exist along this route and its promotion as an artery of motor tourist traffic is the purpose of the newly organized association.

Organization was effected at a meeting at Burns, Oregon, last week, one of a series held in communities along the route by city, county and state officials, highway leaders, representatives of the Automobile Association and chambers of commerce and other organizations. California, Oregon, and Idaho delegations attended these meetings, held in Redding, Altrusa, Lakeview and Burns, Oregon, and Boise, Idaho, which were arranged by the Automobile Association Highways Bureau.

Denny Film Is Riot Of Laughs

If you would laugh until you quiver and palpitate, see Reginald Denny's latest farce. It is entitled "Take It From Me," and it is playing now at the Richmond theatre.

Denny, star of many excellent farces, is at his very best in this light and frothy comedy, and dashes through it with an air of serious abandon that would ring laughs from the most solemn of men.

Ernest Hendricks, Jr., and Lee Moran as the blundering floor-walkers of Denny's department store, give the comedian capable support in providing the risibilities of the audiences.

Blanche Mahaffey graces the picture as the feminine lead with a large stock of personality and an Irish smile that is hypnotic when it is not actually dazzling.

Lucien Littlefield as a dyspeptic business man, and Ethel Wales as a chronically unpleasant business splinter add much solemn merriment to the production, as do Tom O'Brien, Jean Tolley, Bertram Johns, Vera Lewis and the other members of the cast.

Great credit for the picture must go to William Selter, who directed it, with the unswerving knowledge of the true humorist and the technical ability of the expert.

The picture is based on the musical comedy of the same title by Will B. Johnston and Will Anderson, and was ably adapted to the screen by Harvey Thew.

Other film features include the third chapter of "The Collegians," "The Lucky Dog," Cameo comedy.

COSTELLO IS STARRING IN SOUTH DRAHA

A motion picture laid in the South, minus hoopskirts and pantalettes!

That's what "In Old Kentucky" John M. Stahl's production for Metro-Goldwyn Mayer now being shown at the California Theatre is.

Helene Costello is seen in the role of the little Southern heroine, but she wears almost ultra-modern clothing for the period is that following the World War.

Most people seem to think that nothing has happened South since the Civil War, says Miss Costello. "When one thinks of a woman from Kentucky, Virginia, or most any one of the Southern States we almost invariably picture them in the quaint costumes of the ante-bellum period."

"It is a relief to play in a Southern picture and wear modern wardrobe—because you feel more like yourself and less like an impersonation of some one who has been dead for many years."

The picture has a background of Lexington during and immediately after the World War. Miss Costello's gowns are of the soft, feminine, graceful type and are fashioned from two of the materials favored by the modern Southern girl—chiffon and tulle. They are designed by Gilbert women have been impressed by Clark, and, no doubt, will have some influence on woman's dress of today after thousands of women have been impressed by their loveliness on the screen.

Miss Costello will also be seen in a number of sports costumes. She also will wear afternoon gowns and picture hats and will carry modern parasols.

"In Old Kentucky" is an original story and screen play by P. Younger, but was suggested by the famous old Charles Dacey racing melodrama of the speaking stage.

James Murray, a new face to the screen, has the featured role, and Wesley Barry is seen again after an absence of two years from films.

"It's Me" Cameo comedy, Fox News, and five acts of vaudeville including Hailes and Baker, also a couple of local high class dancers.

Student Prince Appealing Story Of Germany

One of the world's simplest, and most appealing love stories has required one of the most elaborate settings ever built to transfer it to the screen.

This is the paradox of "The Student Prince," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's huge filmization of the famous old play, in which Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer were directed by Ernest Lubitsch and which comes to the California Theatre.

With their love as the central theme, a cast of thirty-five famous players and several thousand extras were necessary to reproduce the famous old story, immortalized on the stage by R. Mansfield and recently revived in musical form as "The Student Prince."

Whole towns were built, great castles in Germany reproduced, and the University of Heidelberg recreated in wood and plaster for the huge production. In one scene, showing the welcome of the townspeople to the young prince, played by Novarro, two thousand villagers, guardsmen, police and other characters appear in a gigantic setting depicting a public square and covering ten acres.

The coronation ceremonies required hundreds of soldiers in the brilliant uniforms of the imperial guard, diplomats and nobles; five hundred gaily attired students reveling in the Heidelberg garden scenes, the recreated, inside and out, and other huge construction tasks marked the filming of the new super spectacle.

The cast includes many famous names: Jean Hersholt, in the role of Dr. Juitner, the tutor; Edward Connelly, as the prime minister; Bobby Mack as Kellerman; Ods Harlan as the innkeeper; Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Edythe Chapman, George K. Arthur, Lionel Belmore, Kent Frith, Edgar Norton, D'Arcy Corbett, James Mack and many others.

Hans Kraly scenarized the story from the original novel by Meyer Forester, on which the play was based.

Other film features include "The Story Exchange," Topics, Fables.

If a woman isn't quite sure of her husband she always advertises for a plain cook.

Music Comedy Season Opens In Oakland

The summer musical comedy season begins at the Fulton Theatre, Oakland, this afternoon, when Charles Ruggles and a company of 50 people step before the footlights in "Queen High," the New York musical comedy success in which Ruggles starred for a season. The dramatic company at the Fulton has been sent to Salt Lake City to support Marjorie Rambeau there for a month's season, and the musical comedy will now be the main attraction for some time with New York singers and dancers in the chorus.

Jane Pooshee, the leading lady of "No, No Nanette" and Gardner Hart, the juvenile of the same company will have the juvenile lead in "Queen High" today. Stasia Ledova and Ivan Luttman, the dancing stars from New York, will be in important roles. Skeeter Hartwell will be the eccentric maid, and Ernest Young will be the comedian opposite Ruggles, when the two appear as a couple of "Potsah and Perlmutter," partners in the play.

Kate Campbell, a delightful actress in the cast.

Of great importance in musical comedy is the "merry-merry" or in other words the dancing chorus, and special attention has been paid to this angle in "Queen High" according to the management. Sixteen pretty dancing girls, brilliantly costumed and trained to the limit in fascinating dances, will go lilting through the numbers of the piece, accompanied by a dozen lads of the dancing sort, all picturesquely attired.

Kathryn Ellis, who staged the numbers for the London production of the show was brought to Oakland for the same task, and her skill and genius will be in evidence when the dancing girls go through their evolutions.

The entire production is under the direction of Adrien S. Perrin, New York producer, who will supervise all of the musical comedy productions during the summer at the Fulton.

Jack Joy and an augmented orchestra of twelve high class musicians will provide the music. A novelty that will be sure to please is the use of two Baby Grand pianos for the production and for the entract music, this to be played by Jack Joy and Oscar Young.

Charles Ruggles, who will be star of the production at the Fulton is one of the highest salaried comedians in the musical comedy world. In "Queen High" he will have the role of a funny little man, who makes a bet with his business partner, and as a result is obliged to serve as butler in said partner's household for a certain length of time. Much of the fun of the piece comes from this unusual situation, in which Ruggles and Young will scintillate.
